

Christopher C. Cole
Chief Executive Officer
Intelligrated, Inc.

Chris Cole founded Intelligrated, Inc., a material handling systems design and manufacturing company, in 2001. In June 2009, Intelligrated acquired FKI Logistex a company roughly double Intelligrated's size.

Intelligrated now employs over 1600 people in seven plants in Mason, West Chester and London, Ohio, and St. Louis, MO, Danville, KY, Fredrick, MD, and Alameda, CA. Clients include many major retailers, pharmaceutical and consumer goods companies.

Prior to the founding of Intelligrated, Inc., Chris served as chief operating officer of Pinnacle Automation, Inc., and held various executive positions with Milacron, Inc., including vice president and general manager of the industrial robot business, group vice president of Worldwide Machine Tools, and chief strategic officer.

An active volunteer in Cincinnati, Chris has served extensively for the American Red Cross, as well as for the local chapter. He has held many volunteer positions in the organization, including Chapter Chairman. Chris was awarded the 2008 Clara Barton award for Volunteer Service

Chris has also served on many United Way campaign committees, as well as the Cincinnati Arts Festival. In June 2008, Chris and Intelligrated, Inc., president/chief operating officer, Jim McCarthy, were both Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year[®] 2008 award recipients.

Chris is a Director of the Gleason Corporation, of Rochester, NY, and the Wireless Xcessories Group of Philadelphia. He continues to serve as a volunteer the Cincinnati Area Red Cross, and the Cincinnati USA Regional Chamber of Commerce. In addition he is Chairman of the Chamber USA Regional Foundation.

After attending the Episcopal Academy in Philadelphia, Chris received his undergraduate degree from Wesleyan University and an MBA from Harvard University, where he was named a Roger Siver Fellow in 1978.
