

John Q. Baumann
President/CEO
Ampac

John Baumann's life-long passion to lead a business culminated when he joined Ampac in 1997 as President, CEO and shareholder. His first priority was to lead this dynamic packaging company through a reorganization and restore its relationship with its customers, employees, and its position in the industry and marketplace.

Twelve years later, Ampac is a diversified packaging company and is a leader in the retail, food, pharmaceutical, and medical packaging markets. Revenues have increased fifteen-fold since 1997 to a rate over $300 million annually in 2008. Ampac has successfully completed 10 add-on acquisitions and opened new manufacturing centers in China, Vietnam, Germany and the U.K.

John's vision and ability to integrate his team into one cohesive unit has been the key to his success at Ampac. And through a continued focus on new product development and innovation, Ampac is expected to continue its rapid growth, which has exceeded 30% on a compounded annual growth rate since 1997.

In 2006 and 2007, Ampac received the Highest Achievement Award from the Flexible Packaging Association. In 2005, John was awarded Entrepreneur of the Year by Ernst & Young. Ampac has been recognized as "Retail Manufacturer of the Year" the past five years by the Retail Packaging Association.

Ampac is one of only three companies that has been recognized each year since 2004 as one of the 55 fastest growing companies in the Greater Cincinnati region by the Business Courier and further recognized since 2001 by the Deloitte Cincinnati USA 100 as one of our community's top 100 privately owned companies.

In 2003, Ampac was recognized by the Association for Corporate Growth as recipient of the Deal Maker of the Year Award.
